What does home mean to you?

Home always has a direct connection to family, literally and figuratively. We all have an obligation to give back and take care of what we call “home” – whether its our hometown, alma mater, or current household. One should have a sense of pride when talking about their home and it’s always fulfilling to make a contribution to rebuilding or strengthening the places and people in which we come from.

If you taught a class, what would it be?

I would teach Art to both children and adults – there’s nothing like getting those creative juices flowing. Ideas expressed in an Artistic form often ignite creativity in those around us.

Why should people do business with you?

People do business with us because they know that we genuinely care. We care about your safety, we care about your vehicle and we care about the businesses and events that we serve. We understand that there is a level of trust that exists between us and our customers, and we take pride in knowing that the relationship is built at the instant we open your car door. So when our drivers ask, “How is your day?” We REALLY care!

What advice would you give a young person just starting out in business?

Read, ask questions, and don’t be afraid to make mistakes. As you begin to apply what you have learned to your business, you’ll see knowledge slowly transform into wisdom. Understand that you’ll always be a student of your respected industry, so continue to read, ask questions, learn and go!

Why did you choose the Upstate for your business?

The Upstate, especially Spartanburg, has taken huge steps to grow a community that has traditionally been known as a small town. As our city and its businesses continue to thrive, we knew that valet parking would be the perfect service to cultivate the Southern hospitality that we grew up knowing while providing amenities that are usually seen in metro areas.
